A Bahariya Oasis Desert Safari Overnight lets people experience historical sites coupled with natural scenery and magnificent desert vistas. Bahariya Oasis serves as an abundant oasis that sits 365 km south-west of Cairo while being surrounded by the Western Desert's golden dunes palm tree forests and natural hot water sources. The oasis reveals its essential elements through the Golden Mummies Museum with its antiquated Greco-Roman mummies and the singular Egyptian temple of Alexander the Great.

The expedition leads explorers toward the Black Desert with its volcanic rock formations that generate an unworldly environment. An exploration of Crystal Mountain made of glittering quartz crystals leads visitors toward the White Desert whose chalk rock formations form incredible animal and mushroom shapes because of wind and natural aging. A magical night evolves when you set camp under starry skies while Bedouin traditional food simmers at the campfire amidst the alluring desert tranquility.

The desert dunes will present an amazing sunrise to watch after which you can eat a light breakfast. Follow the White Desert's unusual formations during your last visit before returning to Bahariya Oasis. Take advantage of the natural hot spring facilities in the region before you continue your journey toward Cairo. Desert lovers can enjoy a once-in-a-lifetime authentic night package in the expansive and mystifying Egyptian desert.

Day 1: Bahariya Oasis - White Desert

Travel to the Bahariya Oasis and the White Desert on an unforgettable overnight adventure, full of memorable scenery and desert wonders. The adventure commences with a pickup from Cairo and a four-hour scenic drive to Bahariya Oasis which is lush in the heart of Egypt's Western Desert from Cairo. To arrive at a local oasis-style restaurant to enjoy lunch, then enjoy the rest of the afternoon dining and venturing into the desert terrain.

The afternoon takes you towards the White Desert, stopping at some awe-inspiring natural features along the way. Explore the bizarre black volcanic formations of the Black Desert; visit the El Haize Valley with its refreshing natural springs; and admire the earth's glimmering quartz crystals at Crystal Mountain. Now continue towards that unique-in-this-world Valley of Agabat, where golden dunes and wind-eroded rocks create a marvelous configuration: here, you would have the thrilling experience of sandboarding downwards down the pliable slopes in the desert.

The sun will have set by the time you reach the campsite at White Desert. Towering chalk rock formations glow under the fading light. Feast on a freshly cooked Bedouin-style meal while soaking in the serene ambiance of the desert. Spend the night under a star-laden sky, far from city lights. The next day will find you awake to the view of the rising sun over the White Desert, a perfect end to your desert safari before you head back to Cairo.

Day 2: Back to Bahariya - Cairo

The sun rises into glory over the White Desert, flooding with golden rays the amazing chalk shapes, making it a pretty stunning picture. Have a breakfast freshly prepared from the desert itself and just soak in the peace before you continue your journey. This is where your guide will take you on a tour of visiting places showcasing natural rock formations sculpted by wind and time, including popular Chicken and Mushroom Rock, the formation with a Sphinx resemblance, Whale Rock, and Rabbit Hill, each perfect for photo-taking.

After enjoying the beauty of the White Desert, you will start your journey back towards Bahariya Oasis passing again through the Black Desert where volcanic hills with dark stones strikingly contrast with the golden sands. Upon reaching Bahariya, you will stop by Salt Lake, a hidden treasure that is a feast for the eyes of reflections and a peaceful atmosphere. Later explore the fruit groves in the oasis and enjoy the rolling dunes stretching into the horizon.

At last, just take some time and relax on that four-hour journey back to Cairo, remembering your unforgettable experience in the desert. Finally, you will be dropped at your hotel as soon as you arrive, signaling the end of a really magical Bahariya Oasis & White Desert Safari Overnight Tour.
