White Desert, Bahariya Oasis, and Fayum

Go to visit the wonderful area of the White Desert, which passes through Wadi Al-Fitr and many archaeological sites. This journey provides a rare chance to discover Egypt's rich cultural legacy and take in the splendor of its natural treasures.

The most significant of the several archaeological sites in the vicinity of Bawiti City, the present-day capital of the Bahariya Oasis, is the Youssef Selim region, which has six colorful and carved Pharaonic tombs ascribed to the leader of the Bawiti center, which housed the palace in which he lived at the time of the tombs' discovery.

They are located at a depth of 5 meters below the surface of the earth and were also exploited by the Romans when they came to the oases, in addition to three areas of engraved and colored tombs that were discovered in the Sheikh Subi area. Enjoy visiting the important sites with us, and your English-speaking guide will provide you with important information.

Discover the Bahariya Oasis's most significant archeological sites. We will review the most important ones below: The Temple of Alexander the Great, located in the palace area, is his only temple. Alexander ordered its construction when he visited the Siwa Oasis. Pictures of Alexander presenting sacrifices to the deity Amun may be seen on its walls.

Another amazing sight that may be viewed in these oasis is the White Desert. From a distance, it looks like snow in the desert, and this appearance has gained worldwide fame. The reason for its white color is the white chalk sand that covers it, and it contains a beautiful chalk rock formed by sandstorms.

Crystal Mountain is a mountain built on transparent quartz rocks that resemble crystal and glass. Locals call it "Glass Mountain."

Amidst the populated parts of the oasis, English Mountain stands out for its gorgeous vista and black summit. The name was inspired by the British presence there during the occupation.

Day 01 : From Cairo to White Desert Overnight

At six in the morning, you will be collected from your hotel in Cairo or Giza. This journey takes about 4 hours, with toilet and coffee stops along the way. You will take a 4x4 Jeep and drive to the Black Desert. Later, on your first day, explore the White Desert National Park, The White Desert Reserve was the bottom of an ancient ocean called the Tethys Sea, calcium carbonate was deposited and formed large mountains and huge chalky shapes. It was once a single extensive limestone plateau, and with erosion factors over the ages, it was exposed to what is called wild or wind carving little by little, and these rare shapes formed in it, and the wind carves the weak parts, and the more the part of the rock is solid, it resists carving, and the most famous rocks are mushroom rock, camel head and various other shapes in the form of a bird head or high dome that are considered a masterpiece of art. The rock formations disappear and there is quiet as the sky becomes pink and finally a rich flaming orange. That's when it's time to sit around a small fire and enjoy the simplest meal of chicken, rice, and vegetables. You'll feel like nothing has ever been so delicious. In the desert, the Bedouin staff will pitch a tent and cook dinner.

Day 02 : Tour to Bahariya Oasis sightseeing

Following your desert meal, you will proceed to Bahariya Oasis. You will stop by Crystal Mountain, also referred to as Jebel El-Azaz in the local dialect, on the way back.

Often referred to as the jewel of the desert, the crystal hill is visible on the right. It is composed of quartzite crystals and looks magnificent in the sunlight. This natural feature was discovered by chance a few decades ago. Visit the Bahariya Oasis and enjoy the comforting warmth of the hot spring in Bir Segam. A monthly shrine that attracts thousands of visitors to enjoy its sulfurous underground waters that help cure rheumatism, arthritis, and systemic issues, so it is crowded during the day with those seeking recreation and hospitalization by diving into the sulfurous waters, while at night it is devoid of visitors. Lunch will be served at Luca Restaurant in Bahariya. Post-lunch, you will visit Bahariya Oasis, with its Gebel El-Maghrafa which has the largest dinosaur (Strummer, the tidal giant) fossil discovered at the base of the mountain in 1914. Also, the biggest salt lake in Bahariya Oasis is known as Lake Maroon. From Mountain English, enjoy the sunset and panoramic views. An overview of the northern portion of the oasis may be seen from the summit. Proceed to the Bahriya hotel.

Day 03 : Tour to Wadi El-Rayan Visit the Waterfalls , and Back to Cairo

After eating your meal, you will be transferred to Fayoum to eat some places such as Wadi El-Rayan The Wadi El-Rayan waterfalls are one of the public areas in the Wadi El-Rayan Nature Reserve in Fayoum Governorate, and these waterfalls are the only ones of their kind in Egypt and are natural, not artificial, waterfalls.

The Wadi El Rayan waterfalls area is one of the most important tourist and aesthetic sights, in which geological monuments, diverse eras, water, plants, animals and birds harmonize. It is a picture of the natural beauty for which the nature reserves in Egypt are famous.

Then it will be time to visit Lake Qarun The Qarun Lake is located north of the city of Fayoum, with an area of about 600 square kilometers, while its coastline is about 50 kilometers long, and its depth in some areas reaches 14 meters, and it drops about 45 meters below sea level, after it receded over time.

Finally, we'll return you to Cairo.
