The National Museum of Egyptian Civilization

You may choose to leave the airport to visit some of Egypt's tourist destinations with a proficient guide if your travel time exceeds four hours. For this reason, we provide customized trips from Cairo Airport.

A transit flight is one that requires a short or long stop at another airport before arriving at your final destination. While some may think of a transit flight as a simple wait at the airport, it can actually be enough time to make the most of your trip.

Enjoy the museum, which covers every facet of Egyptian civilization's complexity and depth across all of its ages, from the prehistoric to the present.

The museum occupies 25 acres in the Fustat neighborhood of southwest Cairo and is situated in an environment that contrasts Islamic, Coptic, and Jewish artifacts. The Ben Ezra Synagogue, the Hanging Church, and the Amr ibn al-As Mosque are all close by. UNESCO oversaw the building process.

Tour to The National Museum of Egyptian Civilization from airport

With a carefully chosen guide to accompany you on your trip, you will be taken right away to the National Museum of Egyptian Civilization upon your arrival. The National Museum of Egyptian Civilization will be your destination.

The first museum in Egypt and the Arab world of its sort is the National Museum of Egyptian Civilization. This integrated worldwide cultural complex provides visitors with the chance to travel through time and discover more about the many Egyptian civilizations through the 1,600 objects on show in its central hall. These pieces were carefully selected to shed light on Egypt's tangible and intangible heritage.

The hall was equipped with digital displays to enhance audience interaction with the exhibits and provide the greatest possible information about the displayed pieces. The museum also includes the Royal Mummies Hall, the jewel of the museum. These were transferred from the Egyptian Museum in Tahrir and received in a grand procession witnessed by the entire world on April 3, 2021.

After enjoying your tour from the airport, you will be transferred back to the airport or your accommodation in Cairo or Giza.
