Egypt's most significant religious sites. This sprawling complex, built over 1,000 years ago, was created by various pharaohs to honor the god Amun.

Next, you'll visit the Luxor Temple, dedicated to Amun-Re, an essential figure in ancient Egyptian mythology. This temple, constructed during the reigns of Hatshepsut and Tuthmosis III, stood as a vital religious center until an earthquake in 27 BC caused significant damage.
